

Tony Redhouse

Tony Redhouse, of the Navajo nation, is a Native American sound healer, spiritual teacher, inspirational speaker, Eagle/Hoop dancer and award winning recording artist who uses his voice and music to move communities, world-wide. He is founder of Native American Yoga. Tony has served as a traditional Native American practitioner & consultant to Native American communities and behavioral health organizations teaching seminars in Native American culture, spirituality and arts/crafts to children and adults. Tony has developed a culturally based curriculum for all ages that incorporates Native spirituality as a solution to drug, alcohol and gang related issues, through meditation circles, storytelling, music and dance. His services have been requested from the corporate world, entertainment industry, to agencies supporting hospice work, substance abuse recovery and individuals suffering from cancer and emotional trauma. Tony has numerous credits as a percussionist, conga drummer and vocalist with a diversity of artists from Native American, Latin-Jazz, Hip-Hop to Salsa orchestras! He is a two time winner of the Native American Music Awards. His discography includes the albums: "Release" -2011; "Deep Within" - 2008; "Soul Blessings" -2003; "Journey to the Four Winds" -2001. He was the host of his own television program, the "Tony Redhouse Show" on Access Tucson TV in Tucson, Arizona. from Sept. 6, 2007-Sept. 4, 2008. His collaborative partners have included The Council of Thirteen Indigenous Grandmothers, PBS Broadcast: Pyoor Native and live concerts with Seal's "Game of Chants" Band and the late Vince Welnick of the Grateful Dead. Some of his current projects include World Fusion music, videos and facilitating his "Native American Ceremony and Yoga" at the exclusive Miraval Resort. Tony incorporates Native American art forms to inspire and heal lives; he has successfully bridged the gap between cultures, social groups, races and ages.
